Tannhäuser

Opera by Richard Wagner

Dates	From 21 September to 4 October 2025
Musical Director	Mark Elder
Stage Director	Tatjana Gürbaca

From the feverish delights of the Venusberg to the burning prayers of the Wartburg, Tannhäuser's heart beats to the rhythm of an impossible dilemma. Prisoner of the sensual charms of Venus, he is overcome by the nostalgic remembrance of an artistic world where Elisabeth awaits. Swept away by his earthly passions, he shocks the court of the Wartburg and undertakes a pilgrimage to Rome, seeking absolution from the Pope. In his absence, Elisabeth prays herself to death, and Tannhäuser, collapsing before her funeral shroud, is granted divine redemption upon the gravestone of a love that could never be.

The inspired writing of this young 32-year-old Wagner, bubbling with romanticism, explores the dichotomy of these worlds without nuance, which the brilliant Tatjana Gürbaca's staging reveals to be so intricately porous.

In an evolving scenic concept designed by Henrik Ahr, conductor Mark Elder leads a prestigious cast: Daniel Johansson (Tannhäuser*), Jennifer Davis (Elisabeth), Victoria Karkacheva (Venus) and Stéphane Degout (Wolfram) are bringing to life this essential milestone in the Wagner adventure in Geneva.

* On 23 and 28 September, Tannhäuser will be sung by Samuel Sakker.

Pelléas & Mélisande

Opera by Claude Debussy

Dates	From 26 October to 4 November 2025
Musical Director	Juraj Valčuha
Stage Director & Choreographer	Damien Jalet et Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui
Set Designer	Marina Abramović

In a realm of Allemonde shrouded in mystery, the enigmatic Mélisande and the innocent Pelléas weave a silent and fragile love beneath the feverish gaze of Golaud – both brother and jealous husband. Inspired by Maurice Maeterlinck's emblematic masterpiece, Debussy's unique opera unfolds like a quivering, continuous wave, where melody and voice intertwine.

Marina Abramović's performative genius merges with the poetic physicality of Damien Jalet and Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui to give form to a dreamlike universe, where bodies speak the unspoken language of tormented souls. Shaped by light and movement, this hypnotic ritual exposes the unseen tensions that binds the lovers to their tragic fate.

Under the inspired direction of Juraj Valčuha, the Orchestre de la Suisse Romande accompanies this fatal triangle, embodied by Björn Bürger (Pelléas), Mari Eriksmoen (Mélisande), and Leigh Melrose (Golaud).

An American in Paris

Music and Lyrics by George Gershwin and Ira Gershwin

Dates	From 13 to 31 December 2025
Musical Director	Wayne Marshall
Stage Director & Choreographer	Christopher Wheeldon

The not-to-be-missed Christmas Happy End lights up the stage of the Grand Théâtre to the rhythm of legendary swing! Jerry, a former G.I. turned painter, falls under the spell of Lise, the dancer and muse who sweeps the City of Light off its feet. Alongside Adam, a dreamy pianist, and Henri, a rising star, the three friends sway lightly in an idyllic Montmartre, giving way to colourful dreams. This thrilling romance is enhanced by glittering choreography and heady melodies that will have you humming along like a jubilant ode to joy.

From Broadway to Geneva, Christopher Wheeldon's stage adaptation of this masterpiece, with its timeless Gershwin soundtrack, is an outstanding success. After a masterful tour, the talented troupe landed in Switzerland for the first time, escorted by a full-strength Orchestre de la Suisse Romande conducted by the charismatic Wayne Marshall. Between jazz and glamour, it's a year-end fireworks extravaganza!

L'Italiana in Algeri

Opera by Gioacchino Rossini

Dates	From 23 January to 5 February 2026
Musical Director	Michele Spotti
Stage Director	Julien Chavaz

Like a tornado, the intrepid Isabella bursts into the palace of the whimsical Bey of Algiers. He's been dreaming of an Italian to spice up his life, and now he's got it! In a delightful game of flattery and pretence, she leads him by the nose, determined to free Lindoro, her lover. From the very first notes, a wild celebration takes over the stage, with a succession of role-plays and misunderstandings as hilarious as they are irresistible.

With L'Italiana in Algeri, Rossini crafts a brilliantly comic mechanism, a masterpiece of opera buffa, in which humour and social criticism intertwine in a torrent of frantic rhythms and dazzling vocal fireworks. Somewhere between satire of despotism, exotic fantasy and carnival spirit, the work vibrates with a wild energy carried by Julien Chavaz's inventive and sparkling staging.

At the helm, maestro Michele Spotti, a bel canto specialist, reveals all of Rossini's fantasy, supported by a wonderful trio of singers: Gaëlle Arquez (Isabella), Nahuel Di Pierro (Mustafá, Bey of Algiers), and Maxim Mironov (Lindoro).

Castor & Pollux

Opera by Jean-Philippe Rameau

Dates	From 19 to 29 March 2026
Musical Director	Leonardo García-Alarcón
Stage Director & Choreographer	Edward Clug

Between sacrificed brotherhood and forbidden passion, Castor & Pollux unfolds the full power of lyrical tragedy within an opera-ballet. Revisited in its original and little-known 1737 version, Rameau's virtuosic music exquisitely captures the torments of an intense psychological drama, in which Pollux, son of the gods, confronts his immortality to save his mortal brother.

In a subtle dialogue between voices and bodies, Edward Clug gently charts the path of a universal and transcendent brotherhood, triumphant over war and death. To bring this vibrant Baroque fresco to life, Leonardo García-Alarcón and his Cappella Mediterranea accompany an exceptional cast: Reinoud van Mechelen (Castor), Andreas Wolf (Pollux), Sophie Junker (Télaïre) and Ève-Maud Hubeaux (Phébé).

Madama Butterfly

Opera by Giacomo Puccini

Dates	From 23 April to 3 May 2026
Musical Director	Antonino Fogliani
Stage Director	Barbora Horáková

Is it Pinkerton's language that lacks nuance, or Cio-Cio-San's that knows too much subtility? Most performed opera in the world, Madama Butterfly tells the story of a geisha who sacrifices everything for the promise of love from an American naval officer. Torn between ancient traditions, colonial history, and her social standing, their love ends up on the altar of illusion as Cio-Cio-San's dreamed world inevitably dissolves into harsh reality.

In collaboration with photographer and filmmaker Diana Markosian, director Barbora Horáková sheds new light on Puccini's masterpiece. Witness and heir to a broken promise, the orphan of Madame Butterfly subtly reveals an introspective narrative. This poignant intergenerational drama is brought to life by Corinne Winters (Cio-Cio-San*) and Stephen Costello (Benjamin Franklin Pinkerton), under the masterful direction of Antonino Fogliani.

* On 25 and 29 April and 2 May, Cio-Cio-San will be sung by Heather Engebretson.
 On 29 April, Benjamin Franklin Pinkerton will be sung by Arnold Rutkowski.

200 Motels

Music-theatrical fresco by Frank Zappa

Dates	From 18 to 28 June 2026
Musical Director	Titus Engel
Stage Director	Daniel Kramer

The legendary American rock star Frank Zappa delivers with 200 Motels a muted opera, like a sonic UFO at the crossroads of experimentation, theatrical rock and psychedelic trip. This mythic mockumentary, with its surreal aesthetic, explores the twists and turns of an endless tour, like a dizzying plunge into the absurd and delirious backstage of show business. From one motel to the next, these freewheeling musicians sketch a sharp, acid and disillusioned portrait of an America intoxicated by its own illusions. In this exuberant sound laboratory, incandescent guitars rub shoulders with a dissonant symphony orchestra, while visual hallucinations heighten the rhythmic frenzy of this fragmented fresco. Part foolish satire, part sci-fi opera, and a vibrant mirror of the 1970s and their shattered dreams, 200 Motels electrifies the red velvet seats.

Under the incisive direction of Titus Engel, the Orchestre de la Suisse Romande in full force meets a blazing rock band led by legendary guitarist Mike Keneally, alongside the powerhouse percussion trio Steamboat Switzerland. Soprano Brenda Rae (Soprano Solo / Janet / Journalist) and baritone Robin Adams (Frank / Larry the Dwarf) bring an unprecedented vocal intensity to this virtuoso and wild score.

World premiere

Imperial Ball - Boléro

Ballet

Dates	From 19 to 25 November 2025
Imperial Ball	Choreographer	Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui
	Set Designer	Tim Yip
Boléro	Choreographer	Damien Jalet et Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui
	Set Designer	Marina Abramović

Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui's new creation Imperial Ball meets the transcendent Boléro by the iconic trio Cherkaoui-Jalet-Abramović, in a sumptuous and unsettling diptych evening.

From Vienna to Tokyo, Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui reimagines the Viennese waltz through the symbolic lens of social ritual. Invited by the City of Vienna to commemorate the bicentenary of Johann Strauss II's birth, he expands the focus eastward, blending genres and codes to question the ball's function as a tool of power. The taiko percussion of Japanese artists Tsubasa Hori and Shogo Yoshii accompanies the waltzes of the Orchestre de la Suisse Romande within a set designed by the talented Chinese artist Tim Yip. Behind the masks emerges a social choreography as brutal as it is delicate, fanned by the incantatory power of Damien Jalet and Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui's Boléro in the second half. In this hypnotic spiral, where death merges with ecstasy, the whirlwind of bodies takes on the appearance of a macabre ritual, whose trompe-l'oeil set design by the iconoclastic Marina Abramović underpins the unspoken manifesto of this evening with the Ballet du Grand Théâtre de Genève: dance, a political mirror, sensual and uncompromising.

World premiere

Svatbata

Ballet

Dates	From 19 to 23 May 2026
Choreographer	Marcos Morau
Set Designer	Marc Salicrù

Svatbata is a sensory and spiritual journey from Bulgaria to the edges of mystery. In this magnetic choreographic ceremony, Marcos Morau explores the invisible legacies carried by bodies, turning dance into prayer, celebration and questioning.

Performed by the Ballet du Grand Théâtre de Genève, this creation draws on inherited gestures, forgotten rhythms, and ancient songs to conjure a space of communion. Between East and West, Svatbata explores the strange nuptials of life and death, the visible and the invisible.

In this feathery choreographic world, dance becomes the language of origin, where each step and every breath is an act of remembrance. As it reveals the power of what is passed down silently across generations, the ritual is transformed into a poetic, inhabitable space. A symbolic and sensory work—organic and haunting – that unites what life keeps apart.

Joyce DiDonato

Date	11 October 2025
------	-----------------

World star with a golden tone, Joyce DiDonato returns to the Grand Théâtre for a radiant recital with pianist Craig Terry. From Haydn to Jake Heggie, via Mahler and Debussy, she unveils the full breadth of her art in a programme that spans centuries and styles.

Christmas Carols

Date	3 & 4 December 2025
------	---------------------

In early December, the skies turn grey and the chill sets in... but the festive season is just around the corner! Step into the warm, comforting spirit of Christmas with the artists of the Grand Théâtre Chorus, led by their conductor Mark Biggins, and explore the rich tapestry of Christmas carols from different eras and cultures.

Stéphane Degout

------	-----------------

A baritone of rare distinction, Stéphane Degout explores the poetry of the German Lied and the French mélodie, from Schumann to Debussy, with forays into Ropartz, Strohl and Ravel. Guided by the tender melancholy of Romanticism, he crosses the Rhine and the centuries between Sehnsucht and Symbolism, accompanied by pianist Cédric Tiberghien.

Peter Mattei

Date	4 February 2026
------	-----------------

The baritone Peter Mattei, a true master of the Lied, makes his debut at the Grand Théâtre with Schwanengesang, Schubert's final song cycle, accompanied by pianist Daniel Heide. Ranging from gentle melancholy to profound yearning, he unveils the full subtlety of this deeply moving musical farewell, carried by his warm timbre and rare expressive power.

Elsa Dreisig

Date	27 March 2026

Elsa Dreisig shines in a recital full of contrasts, traversing French, Spanish and Scandinavian melodies. From Poulenc to Schumann's Frauenliebe und Leben, she explores the many faces of love with the brilliance, sensitivity and virtuosity that make her a true Queen of Hearts.
